Scott sweeps riding

It was a confident group of Progressive Conservatives who gathered at the Legion Hall in Lindsay Tuesday evening. Even before the polls had closed, the local PC's were predicting a victory in this riding and across the country.

The optimistic outlook was fed by the national public opinion polls leading up to the vote yesterday and, for the Conservatives in Victoria-Haliburton, by the knowledge that Bill Scott is a very popular representative in the House of Commons.

As the polls closed at 8 p.m. that positive outlook quickly changed to reality as reports started pouring in from the polling stations throughout the riding. As the figures from each of the polling stations in the riding were announced, a cheer would go up from the crowd. The numbers being announced followed a steady consistency. In almost all cases, their candidate, was the clear leader. In fact, in many cases, he was right on the mark, taking a firm 62% of the votes cast.

Shortly before 9 p.m. one of the national television networks predicted a massive Progressive Conservative victory and, once again, the hall erupted with loud cheers of victory.

The incumbent, Bill Scott, moved through the hall, obviously at ease with a comfortable lead. He warmly greeted old friends and supporters, accepting their congratulations.

At 9:45 p.m., the Liberal candidate in the riding, Bruce Glass, appeared at the Scott headquarters. Glass conceded the election to the incumbent. "It's been a good fight," he told the audience. "I've had more fun than a pig in mud." Then with a note of resignation that this fight was indeed over, he told the Conservatives, "We'll be here next time."

Responding to the Liberal candidate, Bill Scott said "This has been a gentlemanly campaign." He paid tribute to Glass for his effort. Scott also commented on the theft of posters, which he said had plagued his campaign. He said he thought the loss of election signs could be blamed on the Liberal opposition, but changed his mind when he realized that Liberal posters were also being damaged. Scott said that Victoria-Haliburton was "a good place to campaign."

With that the two opponents shook hands, marking an end to the election struggle in Victoria Haliburton.

Liberal candidate in the riding of Victoria-Haliburton, Bruce Glass, left, extends his congratulations to the winner of yesterday's federal election, incumbent Progressive Conservative representative Bill Scott. Glass visited the Scott campaign headquarters in Lindsay to concede the defeat at approximately 9:45 p.m. Tuesday.

PCs regain lead lost in 1980

While the win in Victoria Haliburton by incumbent Bill Scott was expected by most observers, the strength of the victory was one variable that was difficult to predict. The incumbent candidate had lost ground in the 1980 federal election, dropping to 52% of the vote from the 62% earned the year earlier.

As of midnight last night, the Progressive Conservative candidate had garnered 62.74% of the popular vote in the riding, represented by a count of 24,215 votes.

What was more surprising, however was the strong showing of the New Democratic Party candidate Patrick Daniel. While he did not represent a threat to the Scott victory, Daniel, as of midnight, held a commanding lead over the Liberal candidate, Bruce Glass. The NDP standard bearer had garnered 8,515 votes compared to the Liberals 7,035. If that trend was carried through to the final count, it would be the first time in recent memory that the Liberal candidate placed third in the federal election results.

The other two candidates, representing the Libertarian and Green parties, each had polled about 300 votes as of midnight.

(Final totals on the election will be available with next week's edition of The Times.)

Objection raised to yard

A proposal to rezone a portion of Lutterworth Township to permit the operation of a wrecking yard has angered a resident of that municipality. Mrs. Ruth Bailey voiced her opinion at the August 28 meeting of the municipal council.

According to Mrs. Bailey the Lutterworth municipal council has allowed a wrecking yard to be created at the corner of the Deep Bay Road and Murdoch road, even though the property was not zoned industrial, a zoning which would permit such an operation.

"Something that is not legal is in effect," she said last week. "This is blatantly illegal and should not be allowed to continue."

The property in question belongs to Garwood Stevenson. According to Lutterworth Reeve Ron Gambell, the owner of the property had applied to the municipi-pality to have the land rezoned. A by-law permitting the new designation has been prepared by the township, however, the council has balked at passing it until the property is cleaned up.

Gambell said the plans submitted for the wrecking yard would place the derelict vehicles behind a row of trees which would ensure that they could not be seen from the roadway. The Reeve said the council had placed a time limit on the clean-up operation and that most of the cars had been placed out of sight.

The Reeve said that if the rezoning is permitted to proceed, the municipality will be gaining control of the operation "from the ground floor," ensuring that the provisions of the zoning by-law covering wrecking yards are adhered to.

Gambell said that there

Chamber board endorses manager

The Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors has given the manager of the Chamber a unanimous endorsement of support.

The vote of support came at the meeting Wednesday, August 29, and followed on the heels of a move by one of the County Council representatives on the board, Lutterworth Reeve Ron Gambell, to spearhead an effort to withdraw county financial support of the Chamber.

Gambell has since resigned from his post on the board. His action was supported by a vote of his municipal council which asks the county to withdraw the funding.

President of the Chamber of Commerce, Ken Langdon, said the board of directors had unanimously endorsed the manager, Mrs. Emily Skinner, and the work she was doing on behalf of the county-wide organization.

Langdon said the board was not taking the accusations made by Gambell too seriously. "It is difficult to deal with innuendo and unsubstantiated statements," Langdon commented. "The board is willing to deal with any specific problems brought to its attention."

The Chamber president expressed surprise that the members of the Lutterworth Township Council appeared to have backed the position of the Reeve, by endorsing the motion to withdraw funding. "I have no idea why he (Gambell) is pursuing this matter," Langdon said.

The Chamber president said he felt some of the comments made by the Lutterworth Reeve were of a personal nature. Langdon added, "It seems when anyone wants to get his name in the papers, all he has to do is attack the Chamber of Commerce."

He concluded that the board of directors has always been confident in the work of the manager. "We have the utmost confidence in the manager and in the continued support of Haliburton County Council," the president said.

Minden, Nebraska, U.S.A.

- by Hilde Lange -

A representative from Huntsville, Ontario, Canada was in Minden, Nebraska in early July to make a presentation to Harold Warp at Pioneer Village.

Brian Westhouse who lives about 40 miles west of Huntsville, Ontario presented a framed commemorative coin concerning the steam locomotive on display at Pioneer Village to Harold Warp, founder of the village.

Westhouse is a car inspector for Canadian National Railways and is representing Huntsville and their efforts to restore the "Portage Flyer" to their area. He said he got his original information from a book about all the steam locomotives used in Canada which was compiled by a friend. The book lists all the present owners of the standard gauge and industrial railroad equipment, where they were built, the date they were built, where they were operated, by what company and to whom they were sold.

There is always a builder's serial number on each boiler and the plates attached to the locomotives at Pioneer Village correspond to the numbers described in the book at the original locomotives used for the Portage Flyer railroad.

Along with the commemorative coin presented to Pioneer Village was the following information: THE PORTAGE FLYER - 1984 coin. The Huntsville and Lake of Bays Railway, commonly known as The "Portage Flyer" was the shortest commercial railway in the world. It was constructed in the years 1903 - 04 over the height of land separating Peninsula Lake and Lake of Bays. Along with the Huntsville Lake of Bays and Lake Simcoe Navigation Company, the railway provided easy access to the resorts on Lake of Bays.

"The locomotive shown on this coin, as well as another like it, were purchased second hand in 1903. They were built by the H.K. Porter Company and ran on a track gauge of forty-four and a half inches. These locomotives continued in service until 1947 when they were replaced by a forty-two inch gauge locomotive. The Portage Flyer ceased to operate in 1959."

Mr. Westhouse gave an interesting account of the history of the Portage Flyer. Steamboat service was operated from the 1880's through the mid 1950's which extended to many of the outlying villages around Huntsville. One of the more popular lakes is the Lake of Bays which is 20 miles long and seven miles wide. The closest connection between the Lake of Bays and Peninsula Lake is about a mile.

When the boat arrived at the north portage of Huntsville, passengers would be loaded into coaches which were converted from horsedrawn streetcars. The train would pull out to a switchback with the engine on the lead, then back up to the top of the grade about a half mile from the north portage. There was a climb of about a hundred feet. From the summit down to the south portage on the Lake of Bays was another drop of about 200 feet.

The portage railway operated from the opening of the navigation season in mid-May until the end of October. It made two trips daily from 1905 until 1959. Private motorboats and private automobiles have replaced the need for the train service and the tracks are now abandoned with trees growing up in the right-of-way.

By 1947 the boilers on the original steam locomotives which were built in 1888, were so old that the inspectors could not renew authorization to use them so the company bought two newer second hand locomotives from a Nova Scotia mining operation. The railway continued to operate from 1947 to 1959 with these newer locomotives which are presently being used as a tourist attraction near London, Ontario.

The Portage Flyer in its heyday was very well known throughout the world. The Lake of Bays had a world-famous cottage area hotel and people staying at the hotel had to take the railway to get there. Groups from all over Europe would come to Canada particularly to stay at the hotel and to ride on the railway.

Some of the local Huntsville residents are now attempting to bring the portage railway back to Huntsville by using the second set of locomotives. The owner of the locomotive in London, Ontario, has been contacted by a group from Huntsville about the sale of the locomotives and a fund raising drive is being organized to try to get the equipment back and put the railway back into service in the Huntsville area as a historical monument, and as a tourist attraction.

Brian Westhouse's efforts to set the story straight Deputy Returning Officer Leitha Grexton deposits the ballot just completed by Sadie Kitcheman Tuesday morning in Minden. Mrs. Kitcheman was one of a large number of voters who arrived at the polling station located in St. Paul's Anglican Church, to cast her vote in the federal election.

Police probe centre break-in Police are considering the laying of charges against two and possibly three Haliburton area youths following an incident Sunday evening in the village.

According to the authorities, a number of complaints were received from Haliburton residents complaining of individuals acting in a "weird manner". The individuals were apparently running through the streets, yelling and fighting.

A short time later it was discovered that the Good Medical Centre had been broken into and a quantity of drugs taken.

The matter is being investigated by Constables Bob Pearson, Al Bibby and Glenn Irving.

Noise complaints

The last long weekend of the summer brought with it the usual increase in calls for the police. A large number of the incidents involved noise and other problems associated with the operation of dirt bikes.

School bus procedure:

This week sees youngsters returning to school for another term. The Community Services Officer, Constable Gary Chapman, issued the following statement regarding school bus safety and how parents can assist in ensuring their child returns home safely:

In conversation with school bus drivers throughout the County during the last school year their biggest concern involves these parent - child reunions. When the child returns from school by bus and runs to the arms of their parent they may be running straight into danger.

To all parents who may be faced with the above situation this month please remember this simple but vitally important safety rule:

When waiting for your child to return from school by bus, never wait on the opposite side of the roadway. When your child leaves the bus and sees you, you will be the only thing on his or her mind. Any safety rules you may have taught will be forgotten. You will be the focus and your child will dash to be with you with no thought whatsoever of any traffic in the area.

Please remember.

about the Portage Flyer locomotives is greatly appreciated. He explained that there is some confusion in the Huntsville area because people who remember the Portage Flyer railway can only remember the locomotives used after 1947. To tell them that the original locomotives are in Nebraska makes it hard for them to believe because they were taught all the locomotives went back to London, Ontario.

We in Minden, Nebraska appreciate Mr. Westhouse's efforts and believe that all of us, Canadians and Americans alike will better understand the historical significance of the Porter locomotives on display at Pioneer Village.

Exchange student leaves for Brazil

For most secondary school students, Tuesday, September fourth was the first day of the school year. For Minden resident Greg Pearson, Monday was the first day of school but unlike the students who have to travel 15 miles by bus to attend classes, Greg had to fly over 5,000 miles to Sao Paulo, Brazil to go to school.

Greg, a 17 year old grade 12 graduate, will be attending classes in Sao Paulo during his year long visit to Brazil as a Rotary Exchange Student.

He became interested in the exchange program after reading Greg Feltham's accounts of his stay in Holland that were published in The Times.

Greg applied to the Minden Rotary Club last year, listing three countries that he wished to visit. He was accepted in November and discovered in February that he would be visiting four families in Brazil.

Although Brazil was not one of the countries he had chosen Greg was not disappointed. "It doesn't matter where you go," Greg explained. "It is the whole program that is important. There is such a benefit."

Greg is not certain what grade he will be entering noting that in some secondary schools in Brazil there are three grades and in others four. "One thing I do know for sure is that the students have to go to school in shifts. Some start at 7 in the morning; others at one in the afternoon; and there is a third shift in the evening."

Because Sao Paulo is in the southern hemisphere the school's summer holidays take place in January and February. Consequently Greg will be attending the last half of one school term and the first half of the next term before he returns to Minden in August 1985.

He realizes that his academic studies in South America will not count toward his formal education here in Ontario and that he will have to learn to speak Portuguese before he can understand much of what is taught in the school he attends.

But, as Greg explained, "The school is not that important. This is not a high school exchange, it is a cultural exchange. I will be there to meet people, learn the language and learn more about the geography of Brazil."

Greg pointed out that

because he is the same age as most of the students now entering grade 12 he will be graduating with students of his own age when he returns to school next year.

He added, "When I return to school I want to generate some enthusiasm for the exchange program because it is such a great opportunity." He notes also that he was surprised that only three students applied to the Minden Rotary Club to be considered for the program.

"People say 'I would love to go but I don't want to miss a year.' But they wouldn't be missing a year because they would be able to gain so much," Greg adds, "How much are you going to remember of a school year? I know I will remember this year for the rest of my life. Everything, every day is going to be a new experience."

During his visit to Brazil Greg will be staying with four families in Sao Paulo. He will also be touring the country during the school holidays. During the tour, which has been organized by the Sao Paulo Rotary Club, Greg will spend several days on the Amazon River and will visit one of the highest waterfalls in the world. The Iguaza Falls are located on the border between Brazil, Paraguay and Argentina and Greg will have the unique opportunity of viewing the falls from three separate countries.

Greg feels that the tour will not only help him understand the country better it will also help him "learn the ins and outs of travelling which will be important because I hope to travel through Europe some time in the future."

Greg also believes that the visit to Brazil will help him understand Canada better. "I am going to learn a lot about our country too because many people who live in Canada all their life think this is the only way of life there is, but it is not. When I am in Brazil it will be neat to compare."

Greg will not only be able to compare two cultures he will also be able to compare living in a small town of 1200 people to living in a city that has a population of over 12 million. He notes, "I think the biggest change will be first; the language and the second the size of the city."

"I won't know until I get there if I will like living in such a large city, but the change will be difficult anyway so I might as well go for it all," he explained adding, "Maybe not a city that big because it is one of the largest cities in the world but it will only be for a year anyway and I can prepare myself for that."

Greg believes that the exchange visit may also affect his plans for the future. "I am thinking of becoming a physical education instructor but I am going to wait and see until after the exchange because I wouldn't mind getting into some kind of a career in diplomacy and being able to learn the language and gaining knowledge of the country will help."

Greg left Minden on Wednesday (August 29) and after taking in a Blue Jays baseball game in Toronto he boarded a plane at Pearson International Airport and began winging his way to the springtime in Sao Paulo.

Years of service

Last week this newspaper reported on an important transition in the communities of Minden and Haliburton. The occasion was the transfer of control of the hospitals in the two villages from the Red Cross to St. Joseph's Hospital in Peterborough.

The formal changeover of responsibility had taken place earlier this year, on February 1. The ceremonies last month were held to recognize the contribution of citizens in both communities since the outpost hospitals were established.

Of course the Red Cross Societies in Minden and Haliburton were at the forefront of supporting and nurturing the two hospitals. The groups provide the framework through which the other members of the service areas could become involved in the expansion and growth of the hospitals. Tribute was paid to these individuals last month and we second those remarks.

Without the dedicated support of numerous Red Cross Society volunteers over the years, it is highly unlikely the two medical facilities would have attained the high standards which they now enjoy. Those who contributed their time and effort deserve the appreciation of the entire county.

Speak out

In addition to providing information about the community we serve, an important duty of this newspaper is to comment on issues of the day. We invite our readers to speak out as well, on matters they feel need airing.

Letters to the editor attract high readership, offer differing points of view on issues of importance and offer the opportunity for a free exchange of ideas, a vital part of a democratic society. This newspaper will always respect the right of citizens to be heard, within limits dictated by legal restrictions and good taste. We ask that writers be willing to allow their names to appear with their letters.

Health reform is urgently needed

- by John Eakins, MPP -

The recently released report on the Task Force on the Allocation of Health Care Resources, confirms what my colleagues and I have been arguing for more than two years: our health care system is in urgent need of major reform.

The recommendations made by the Task Force to the Canadian Medical Association are consistent with deficiencies we have documented in recent years, from the over-institutionalization of senior citizens, to the lack of provision of mental health care and the strain on existing hospital beds which is leading to great hardship for many people in Ontario.

It is worth noting testimony at the recent inquest into the death of 47-year-old Abshez at the Sunnybrook Medical Centre in May. Dr. Charles Tator, head of the Centre's neurosurgery ward, blamed her death on failure to admit her earlier as a patient - due to the critical bed shortage in Ontario's hospitals.

The doctor's comments are a condemnation of the health care system as it now exists in this province. To quote: "This should not happen in this day and age; there should be improved access to hospital bed availability... The source of the problem and the solution are beyond the doors of Sunnybrook."

You will no doubt recall that my colleagues and I have documented similar concerns and have raised these issues in the Ontario Legislature numerous times over the past two years. We have talked about the bed shortage crisis in Ottawa, Kingston, London and elsewhere, and also the need to re-open the 21-bed unit in Lindsay which has remained closed for a number of years. We have expressed grave concerns about the lack of mental health care and adequate medical personnel for people in our northern communities. On every occasion, the health minister of the day downplayed the extent of the problem.

In its study of Ontario's health care system in the spring of 1982, the Liberal Task Force warned: "There is a time bomb ticking in Ontario... a time bomb which most Ontarians cannot hear... yet the impending explosion in our medicare system threatens each and every one of us... there is a very real possibility by the year 1985, health care as we now know it could be a fond and fading memory."

Surely, now that an independent group has confirmed the validity of these observations, the government of Premier Davis has an obligation to initiate the major reforms we have recommended.

Federation of Ontario Naturalists

As a native of the prairies, where poplar windbreaks were the closest thing to a deciduous forest, I have always marvelled at the elegance of the towering American Elm. With its distinctive shape, limbs arching steeply up 100 feet or more, this magnificent tree is naturally inspirational. Whether standing alone in a distant pasture, forming a cathedral vault over some back country lane or shading an outdoor cafe, it challenges any monument we dare erect and frames North American landscape history just as surely as the White Pine.

It was a great shock, then, the first time I came upon the sad spectacle of a venerable ulmus americana riddled with pipes and hoses carrying mysterious fluids from some infernal machine. Since it was standing on the grounds of an impossibly perfect lawn and garden in downtown Toronto, I wondered for a second if some obsessed gardener was actually trying to turn its leaves greener in a mad cosmetic vision. Instead I quickly learned the sad truth, that the aging Elm was under intensive care and might not live much longer due to a blight called Dutch elm disease.

The White Elm, as the species is commonly known here in Ontario, occurs naturally across the province from the Carolinian zone bordering Lake Erie to the southern reaches of the Boreal forest. Together with its more southerly restricted relatives, the Slippery Elm and Rock Elm, this dark gray to reddish-brown barked species provides us with some of the earliest spring blossoms. Flower clusters open before the leaves and in only a few weeks the circular, winged fruits are mature.

Thought it was once a common sight across its wide range, the White Elm has disappeared from view

Heritage comes alive on 500 mile ride

"I've seen more of this province from the back of a horse than I have seen by any other means."

The words are those of Minden resident Sue Bennett, who recently took part in an innovative celebration of Ontario's Bicentennial. Sue was one of three riders who completed the 500 mile Journey Into Yesterday, a horseback excursion from the city of Renfrew in the Ottawa Valley, to the tiny village of Ballinafad, on the Niagara Escarpment north of Toronto.

For Sue, the opening statement couldn't be truer.

She has been a resident of Minden for the past five years and came to Canada from her native England some ten years ago. She brought with her a love for horses and horseback riding, particularly Welsh Cob Ponies, a small but sturdy breed of equines. Sue's interest in horses led to her involvement with the Ontario Trail Riders Association (OTRA) and over the past few years she has participated in a number of week long trail rides, organized by the association.

This year's ride represented a different kind of challenge. The distance to be covered would be the greatest yet, some 500 miles, it would follow a variety of terrain, from abandoned railway lines, to snowmobile trails to country roads. The ride was also the longest the organization had ever planned, beginning on July 29 and ending August 25. The ride also took on special significance for the participants because of the bicentennial celebrations taking place in Ontario this year.

The organizers planned the event around the birthday celebration retracing the routes followed by pioneer roads, railroads, and trails. The route passed through some of the early settlements of the province and, for the participants, brought to life the history and heritage being celebrated.

The ride actually had two starting points. One group began at Depot Harbour, south of Parry Sound, and followed the old Seguin trail to Algonquin Park, and then on to Whitney. (Since horses are not permitted within the park, the scroll and riders' log book which this group had started, were carried through the park on foot and by canoe.)

The second group, which included Sue, started from Timbertown just north of Renfrew. The trek began with a parade from Timbertown to the city of Renfrew. Some 42 riders and horse drawn buggies took part in the first day of the ride. As the group headed west toward Whitney, the number of participants varied. Riders would join the trek for a day or two, some for just a few hours, but all were intrigued by the idea of the journey and wanting to be, in some small way, a part of the Journey into Yesterday.

Sue, along with companions Wendy Blow of Elmville and Frank Bowman of King City, were the only three who would travel the entire distance.

The trail between Renfrew and Whitney presented a number of interesting challenges for the riders. They spent a great deal of their time following an abandoned rail line. Often the undergrowth from either side of the right of way virtually obliterated the trail. In other places washouts created gaping holes in the track bed leaving the riders to search for other ways of circumnavigating the obstacle, or finding a way through it.

The challenges which created frustrations along the trail are now part of the fond memories of this trek for Sue. As she flips through her photographs of the 28 day excursion, she exudes a sense of having accomplished something worth doing.

"For me this ride was a real test of horsemanship," Sue commented looking back over the experience. "It was a real challenge to bring the ponies through this with as little weight loss as possible. And it was also an enjoyable holiday... wilderness with a challenge. We were retracing the early routes of the pioneers, the way they would have done it, on horseback."

The riders had arranged the route so that a feed wagon would meet them every night at the appointed campsite. This would ensure that the horses would always be properly fed and taken care of. However, most of the riders carried what they needed for their own survival with them in pack sacks or on pack horses.

That is not to say that everything was roughing it in the wilderness. At a couple of communities along the way the ride was greeted with a civic reception that included a hot meal and a warm welcome. "I was always amazed at the welcome we received in some of the communities," Sue commented. "We were simply overwhelmed."

She noted however, that there will always be a special place in her heart for a number of individuals along the route who opened their homes, and barns, to the riders. "Those who offered a hot bath will always be remembered with special affection," she said.

The riders had a number of special bicentennial projects which formed an important part of the trek. The ride itself was of historical significance because of the route it followed and the method of travel. Since it was a trail ride of such note, a special log book has been prepared detailing the distance covered, the communities visited and the riders who took part in the event.

In addition the riders carried with them a special bicentennial scroll which was signed by the descendants of the original settlers in each community they visited. As well the OTRA had contacted each community in advance and asked them to prepare quilt blocks. One includes the names of the original settlers of that community while the second has the name of the community. These quilt blocks will be stitched together to form a giant quilt which will provide an interesting and decorative record of the trip.

The quilt, scroll and log book are expected to be housed in a horse park expected to be constructed at Scotsdale Farm south of Ballinafad, where the trek ended.

Sue sees other potential benefits emerging from the Journey Into Yesterday ride. A strong advocate of multi-use recreation trails, she says this ride provided firsthand proof that such a trail system would be of value to the province. She noted that the final leg of the trip from Glen Ross to Ballinafad followed the Great Pine Ridge Trail, a route that has been in existence for a number of years and one that could serve as a model for others in the province.

The ride ended as it had begun, with a parade in Ballinafad. Close to a hundred horses and riders took part in the final tribute to the Journey Into Yesterday, but for three of the participants, including Sue Bennett, the day had a special significance.

For her it marked the end of a 500 mile trek that proved the endurance of her ponies and, as she said, "offered an interesting insight into the roots of this province."

from the chamber

These are the days to try men's souls. These are for instance days when I actually believe it is the best of times. However these are interspersed with occasions when it surely must be the worst of times ... or at least close to it. So says John Milne of Milne Associates, Northern Ontario Business News. I think all members would agree. This is probably an appropriate opening to this week's column.

However there is one bright spot on the horizon - we have had our first meeting with Canadian Employment and Immigration Canada, regarding a local employment assistance and development program, (LEAD) which provides federal funds for the creation of jobs in communities with high unemployment. The objective is to stimulate employment growth and local development directly related to community needs and priorities, in helping with regional development strategies.

LEAD achieves its purpose by creating local development corporations and funding projects that will generate new permanent jobs for community residents.

This project is only in the proposal stage. A committee has been formed and a Board of Directors will be selected to draw up the proposal. Your Chamber of Commerce will be actively involved on an ongoing basis.

The changing market

We are told from time to time that the market place is changing. One of the most difficult things to do is to identify the trend and to be ready before the actual change takes place. By the time the general public is aware that change has taken place, we have already lost ground. Marketing Magazine has carried an interesting article on mass marketing.

They say there is no more mass market and because of its disappearance advertising agencies and their clients are facing a crisis in how to market their products.

Marketers are losing access to mass markets, mass media and mass merchandising as a result of the social trend toward individualism. That is changing the whole approach to selling.

Marketers who want to stay in touch with changing consumer values will have to look more closely at individual needs, keeping in mind that more and more of today's consumers are making decisions for themselves.

The problem facing marketers is they have to learn to sell their messages by giving the consumer sufficient value in terms of entertainment, education or information - value that will generate attention and commitment in return.

Bus tour

The following is a letter directed to the President of the Ontario Convention Bureau from Rueben Batez, Minister of Tourism, regarding a bus tour to be arranged by Mr. Batez to promote tourism in Ontario. The objective is to give all Tourism Manager's a first hand experience of what Ontario has to offer the travelling public. Haliburton will be included in this familiarization tour, which we are sure will receive the appropriate media coverage. The tour is scheduled to run late fall or early spring.

Mr. Allan Herrington,
Kingston
President, OACB

Dear Allan:

I thoroughly enjoyed my evening with the members of the Ontario Association of Convention Bureaux.

As I mentioned during my remarks, the tourism industry has become highly competitive, but that is not to say that Ontario lacks the potential to hold its own as a major tourism destination. I am absolutely delighted to underline this fact with my proposal to orchestrate a "fam" tour to show your members some of the Province's beautiful attractions - attractions that even they do not know about first hand. When the tour is over, any pessimism concerning Ontario's tourism possibilities will be thoroughly dispelled!

Please extend my thanks and very best wishes to your colleagues.

Yours sincerely,
Reuben C. Batez
Minister

Police crackdown helps reduce traffic fatalities

The Ontario Provincial Police throughout the Peterborough district have continued to make enforcement of drinking driver legislation a priority in reducing the number of traffic accident deaths on provincial roadways this summer.

Throughout the period from July 1 to August 10, Provincial Police officers in the ten area detachments (Apsley, Brighton, Campbellford, Cobocok, Lindsay, Millbrook, Minden, Newcastle, Cobourg and Peterborough) stopped a total of 11,045 motorists who were screened for evidence of alcohol consumption. A total of 110 charges were laid under the criminal code, impaired driving sections, 153 twelve-hour licence suspensions were issued, and 236 charges under the liquor licence act were issued by the police.

O.P.P. Commissioner R. A. Ferguson has committed the Provincial Police force to detect and prosecute any driver who has consumed alcohol beyond Canada's legal limit of 80 milligrams.

Due to this increased enforcement action, fatal motor vehicle accidents in the Peterborough O.P.P. district have decreased during the first seven months of this year. A total of 19 fatal accidents with 20 persons killed is reported in comparison to 28 fatal accidents with 32 persons killed in the same period of 1983.

It is proven that strict enforcement does correlate directly with the decrease in serious collision. The O.P.P. are committed to reducing the deaths and injury brought to motorists by impaired drivers.

Rain hurts attendance at Kinmount Fair

Another Kinmount Fair has come and gone signalling the end of summer and although attendance was down from last year, organizers, participants and visitors alike, considered it a grand success.

Guy Scott, secretary of the Fair Board estimates that the total attendance was down by 12% from last year due mainly to the inclement weather conditions experienced on Sunday.

On Saturday, however, the sun shone brightly and 13,000 visitors passed through the gates.

The cattle show attracted one of the highest number of entries in years. 180 cattle including the Canadian National Exhibition Grand judges with 96 separate entries winning 37 first place ribbons.

A new addition to the fair this year was a full scale mock-up of a pioneer home outfitted with antique furniture, tools and turn of the century household items. The exhibit was a bicentennial project of the Kinmount Civic Action Committee.

The Grandstand was filled to capacity by 2 p.m. as the fans eagerly awaited the beginning of the Demolition Derby. The spectators were not disappointed as the drivers sent their cars careening around the enclosure sending chunks of metal flying through the smoke and steam and reducing the cars to crumpled wrecks. Of course no one was hurt during the motorized mayhem and everyone had a roaring good time. After the Derby, the more traditional events took place.

While some of the top breeders in the province took part in the goat show, the light horses pitted their strength against the stone boat. Murray Cowan of Haliburton took home the first place ribbon with the longest draw. Dave Sisson of Minden placed second and Jack Batty finished in third place.

Following the horse draw, Brad Macduff of Gooderham drove his four wheel drive truck to first overall in the sled pull.

The sled pull ended the afternoon activities and marked the end of the fair. As the horses and livestock were loaded on to the trailers, the visitors began filing through the gates damp but happy and the lights on the midway rides were turned off.

Champion were paraded before the judges during the afternoon.

The Grandstand show featuring Ray St. Germain and the amateur competition proved popular with the crowd and the heavy horse draw, a long standing tradition at the fair, filled the viewing stands.

Mac McGillivray from Bancroft encouraged his team to a first place finish in the event. Stewart Dennis of Woodville was the runner up and Ingram Wessel of Norland placed third in the test of strength of strength and endurance.

On Sunday the indoor exhibits and talent shows were a favourite spot for visitors seeking shelter from the rain. The tables in the exhibit hall were laden with freshly harvested vegetables, fruits and flowers as well as handcrafts and home-baking. Bea Taylor of Minden impressed the

Allen Bruce wins Highlands Cup

The summer ATC racing season came to an end on Saturday after the running of the third leg of the Highland's Cup Series.

Fifteen year old Allen Bruce of Douglas, Ontario was awarded the Highland Cup after accumulating 299 points in the three race series which began in July.

Allen racked up two first place and five second place finishes in the overall standings.

Mike Kuno of Eganville was the runner up driving to three first and two second place finishes to gain 241 points.

Jeff Howe of Minden was the top driver in three classes on Saturday. His wins put him in third place in the overall points series with 171 points.

Steven Stewart of Minden placed second in the Open Modified class.

Steven was injured in a race held in London early in August and was unable to compete in Saturday's race. A fifth place finish would have put him in the top place overall in the Open Modified class which he had dominated in previous races.

Glen Plooard also of Minden placed third in the 0 - 125 cc Non Suspended Stock class.

The following is a list of the top three finishers in each class:

0 - 125 Non Suspended Stock (NSS): Allen Bruce, Doug Zadow, Glen Plooard
125 - 200 NSS: Mike Kuno, Allen Bruce, Lynn McAllister.

200 - 225 Suspended Stock: Mike Kuno, Allen Bruce, Jim Bogart.

250 Suspended Stock: Jeff Howe, Allen Bruce, Shane Oliver.

0 - 125 Modified: Mike Kuno, Allen Bruce, Keith Robinson.

125 - 200 Mod: Allen Bruce, Mike Kuno, Jim Bogart.

250 Mod: Jeff Howe, Allen Bruce, Shane Oliver.

Open Modified: Scott Denham, Steven Stewart, Bill Wallace.

Allen Bruce, left, accepts the Highlands Cup from one of the race organizers Barry Stewart following the completion of the third leg of ATC racing at the Minden arena.

Drivers drift into the first turn of the last ATC race this past weekend.

Fashion show a success

Anna Qvist, left, and Gwen Kushner, above, model some of the more than 40 ensembles featured in the Wearable Art fashion show which took place at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery last weekend.

The current exhibition of designer fashions began in a very stylish manner Friday evening with a Wearable Art Fashion Show, featuring the creations of five designers and artists.

As Bill Fitches commented on the beautifully crafted designs, eleven models paraded before the capacity audience at the Agnes Jamieson Art Gallery in Minden.

Trent-Severn news

One of the driest weekends this summer occurred August 25, 26; and a noticeable loss of water to evaporation occurred from most lakes of the Trent-Severn. The reservoirs in Haliburton declined some 5.1% to reach 71.7% on the 27th. This was still some 9% higher than the 10-year average and 16% higher than in 1983.

Kawartha Lakes levels declined too, into their navigation ranges over the week despite the outflow having been reduced to less than the long term average for August. A steady flow somewhat higher than minimum has been run down the Otonabee River this week until August 30.

A continued steep decline of reservoir levels is expected this next week (to September 3) to get more in line with average levels while dry conditions exist. The heavy rains at mid week may have reduced the decline, however, though drier conditions were forecast for the Labour Day weekend.

Many of the designs were created by Fitches, a teacher and designer who was the adjudicator of the recent juried fashion and fibre show held at the gallery.

Included in the show were the latest designs of Jane Dixon, who specializes in large wallhangings, jewelry created by Nancy Steele, knitted furs by Paul Lishman, capes fashioned by Janet Coats, and a wedding dress designed by Jane Dixon that was assembled from a Victorian bedspread, silk flowers and hand painted.

A second show took place on Saturday afternoon, again to an appreciative audience, followed by a successful sale.

The exhibition of Bill Fitches fashions and wallhangings continues at the gallery through the month of September.

Huskies select 1984-85 coach

The Haliburton North-ernways Huskies have announced the signing of a new coach for the 1984-1985 season.

Scott Hammond was named by the team executive to replace Derrell Stamp who resigned as coach, earlier this summer.

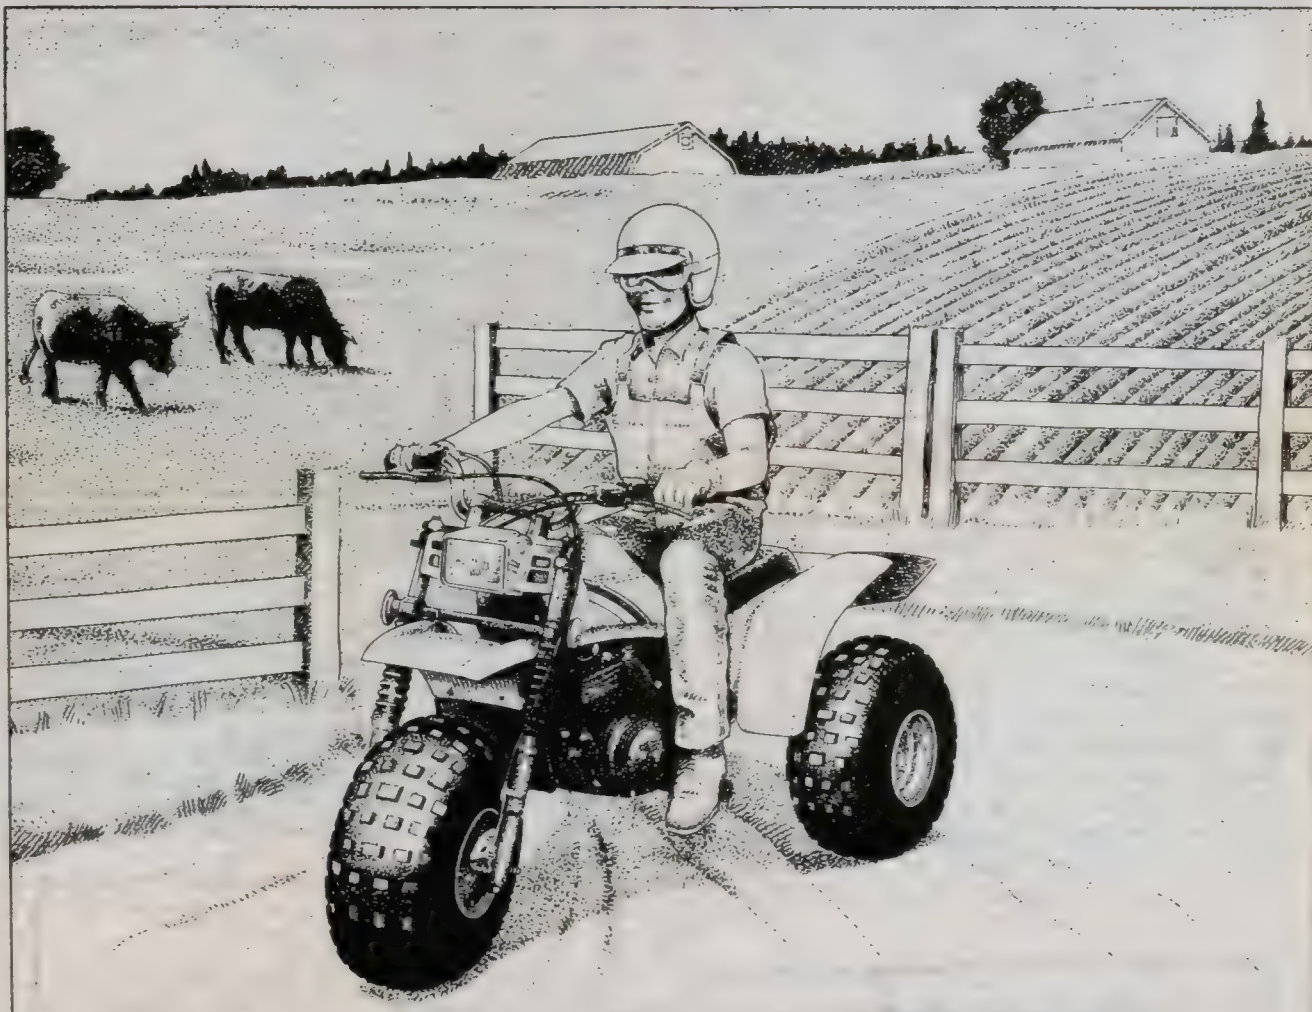

The 25 year old Hammond, formerly of Bracebridge, is currently an instructor at the Haliburton Highlands Hospitality Training Centre.

The new coach has had experience as a player in Junior hockey and at the college level. He has continued his interest in sports throughout the summer, playing for the Rockcliffe Hustlers in the Men's Fastball League.

Hammond will be seeking to recruit players for the Huskies from the Minden area and hopes to import several players from the Bracebridge area.

Training camp for the Junior 'C' club will begin in early September. Regular season play is slated to begin in October.

There's a new farm hand for hire this year: the Honda ATC250SX. It's a brand new machine, the muscular younger brother to our fully-equipped Big Red. A shorter wheelbase and more compact chassis make the 250SX light on its feet. But a specially designed 246 cc four-stroke engine lets it dig in its heels, delivering maximum power and torque at low and medium engine speeds. And of course, like all Honda ATCs, the 250SX also has the know-how to get foot-loose and just have fun. Featuring shaft drive, reverse gear, and full front and rear suspension, the 250SX has everything you need to do the job right. It may be new to the game, but the 250SX works like an old hand.

in many areas. Just as the Chestnut blight killed almost all our Sweet Chestnuts, Dutch elm disease has spread like wildfire across the province, since it was first observed in north eastern Ontario in 1946. So called because of the Dutch scientists whose studies identified the causal fungus, the disease was imported to North America in shipments of logs which brought its host, a European strain of Elm bark beetle, to our shores.

Fortunately, there are still significant numbers of trees around. And Dutch elm disease is a slow killer. It blocks the vascular system of the tree and shuts off the natural flow of liquids causing it to wilt and the leaves to yellow. Death occurs sometime later. So pathologists have been able to block the spread of disease by injecting a number of systemic fungicides under pressure. One of the major advocates for this method of cure is the Elm Research Institute in Harrisville New Hampshire, which reports a 96% success rate on over 8,000 trees injected during a 10 year period.

Another step toward Elm survival has been taken by plant breeders who have produced hybrids, such as Homestead and Pioneer for home owners, using Asiatic parent species. But these hybrids lack the vase shape and hence much of the original appeal.

Selection of seedlings resistant to the disease also holds promise. While not immune to the fungus, these new strains show good resistance after 10 years of age. But expert opinion still holds that the trees are vulnerable when planted close together, such as they are in city streets. Here they require constant monitoring and pruning since the disease can spread through natural root grafts and the carrier beetle breeds in dying trees.

Over the long haul, the tree's enormous production of seed may well be its key to survival, at least in rural areas.

Haliburton Jrs take county softball title

The Haliburton Juniors became the 1984 Ladies Softball Champions after winning their best of five final series against the Minden Dixie Lee Seniors on Thursday night at the Minden ball diamond.

The stage was set for the final series after the Minden Seniors defeated the Minden Juniors in the semi-final series.

The Haliburton Juniors who, had played to a fourth place finish during the regular season defeated the second place West Guilford team to advance to the finals.

During the regular season the Minden Seniors were victorious in all four games against the Haliburton Juniors and ended the season in first place overall.

Minden won the first game of the finals by a score of 12 - 9 then took a two game lead in the series after their 16 - 14 victory in Haliburton.

The Seniors seemed to be assured of a victory and the championship in the third game after building a 7 - 1 lead but the Juniors turned the game around in the sixth inning and went on to win 14 - 11 to keep their play-off chances alive.

On Wednesday evening, playing before a large crowd of home town fans in Haliburton, the Juniors completely dominated the game and coasted to a 21 - 5 victory to tie the series at two games apiece. The next evening the two teams met again in Minden in the deciding game.

A strong hitting game on the part of the Juniors, and errors by Minden combined to put the Haliburton team ahead 13 - 5 toward the end of the game. But Minden settled down to some strong defensive play and put on two good innings of offence but they were unable to catch up and the Juniors added two more runs to take the game by a score of 15 - 12.

How's Your Hearing?

1. When you hear conversation are you finding it more and more difficult to distinguish what is being said?
2. Are you asking friends to repeat what they said more frequently than before?
3. When people gather in groups to talk do you have difficulty understanding?
4. Does your spouse often ask you to turn the TV sound down to a level comfortable for them but then YOU don't quite get the sound?
5. When several people talk together socially, do you take part in the discussion or are you a "Silent Partner"?

Residents object

had been no other written objections received to the rezoning.

Mrs. Bailey said she was aware of a number of residents in the area who are concerned what the operation of the wrecking yard will do to adjacent properties. Mrs. Bailey said she intended to construct a retirement home on adjacent property, but is having second thoughts about it because of the new business. "We don't want to build next to something like that," she stated. "That's why we come here from Islington to get away from that sort of thing." She also said that her son is reconsidering the construction of a home on the Deep Bay Road because of the new enterprise.

Mrs. Bailey said she planned to seek legal counsel to represent her interests in the case.

Reeve Gambell said he could appreciate her point of view but that he favoured the rezoning, if the business were carefully monitored and controlled. "It will mean additional taxes for the township," the Reeve commented, "and another new business."

The Reeve noted that the council was once again caught between the two competing interests of two ratepayers. "If we approve

Seniors' meeting

by Donna Bailey

This is just a reminder that if you have not already phoned our office, at 457-2941, for lunch reservations at the Haliburton County Home Support Services annual meeting, which will be held on Friday, September 14 at the Haliburton Legion, the last day for doing so is Thursday, September 6.

We know that if your name is on our list you are planning to attend - but if for any reason you know that you are not going to be able to do so please advise us of this by September 6. We look forward to seeing each and everyone of you. Come the bylaw some residents will claim we are not serving their interests, but if we deny the property owner the right to operate the business, we are not serving his interests either."

He said the matter would likely be decided by an Ontario Municipal Board hearing. "As far as I'm concerned, I have no objection to the change if the wrecking yard is out of sight and is operated properly," Gambell stated.

and meet your new executive and board of directors.

While you are at the meeting you can pick up your latest "hot off the press" copy of our autumn newsletter. If you belong to a senior organization or a group that would be interested in receiving a few copies please take some for "shared" distribution.

Ladies and gentlemen, please bring your favourite recipe(s) for cooking for seniors (i.e.: cooking for one or two, special diets - low calorie, salt free, diabetic, etc.) to our annual meeting and leave them at the reception desk.

Home Support news

by Anna M. Nichol

Persons over 55 often willing to attend any or all of the following activities at the Drop-In Centre are held back because of lack of transportation. Our Home Support office provides excellent transportation services for a small fee. We want you to have a warm and social time during the fall season and long winter months. The Home Support office number is 457-2941 and Drop-In Centre number is 457-2171.

The dates for the Senior Swim Program at Locarno-on-the-Lake will begin Wednesday, October 10 and end Wednesday, December 12 from 1:00 p.m. - 4:00 p.m. The ten sessions will cost $30.00. Each member may bring a one-time guest for $4.00 a session.

Fun and Fitness Program still requires additional members, both male and female. The session is about 45 minutes in duration. (We have Jim Ross's word that he performs the same Red Cross Fitness Program and enjoys it thoroughly) The date for the program to begin will be announced at a later date.

Laura Hartwick, a devoted volunteer at the Drop-In Centre is taking charge of a coffee and craft morning from 9:00 - 11:00. The tentative days for this morning are Thursday or Friday.

The crafts will include knitting, sewing, quilting, crocheting, rug-hooking and rug braiding. Laura has some interesting ideas about a common craft that all ladies may contribute to during the morning. The first gathering will be September 6 at 9:00 a.m.

Come along, bring a craft, share your ideas and our coffee and enjoy good company.

The Cake Decorating Presentation and Instruction by Anne Barker will be held Tuesday, September 25 from 10:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m. There is no fee for the workshop. All persons over 55 are very welcome, especially if a friend is brought. Please register soon by calling the Home Support office at 457-2941.

Did you know?

by Jim Wilkinson

Did you know ... that one of the greatest menaces to our environment in 1984 is acid rain?

We know what causes it and that is the enormous quantities of sulphur dioxide emissions from electrical utilities, smelters and industrial processes and nitrogen oxides from the transportation sector, electrical utilities and industrial boilers, etc.

The majority of these emissions occur chiefly in the highly industrialized areas of North America. However, this problem is not just in the Canada - U.S.A. areas, it is world-wide.

How does it affect Haliburton? In any of our lakes that do not have a limestone base, the growing acidity in the water is affecting our fish and amphibians at spawning time, interfering with the reproductive processes and often leading to skeletal deformation.

Much of our economy depends on tourism and fishing and a declining fish population is not a good advertisement for any area. Our forests create much of our local employment and researchers are finding that acid rain increases the vulnerability to trees to disease and insects, also that seedlings can be damaged by moderately acidic rain.

There is no quick answer to solving the problems, but we can help by more efficient use of fossil fuel, efficient home heating, electrical conservation, proper maintenance of vehicles and pollution control devices, and we could follow the example of New York State by legislation to control Ontario emissions. Why not write to our M.P.P., Mr. John Eakins regarding this matter?

If you would like to know more about Acid Rain and what you can do, drop in to your County Information Centre and look over our collection of resource material.

Our office is located in the Drag River Municipal Building (across from Emmerson Lumber) in Haliburton and we are open Monday through Friday, 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Why not give us a call at 457-2733, and remember, you will never know the answer until you ask the question.

A very special birthday party was held recently in Orangeville to celebrate the 100th birthday of Mary Ethel Rudd, mother of local resident E.C. Rudd.

Canada was just seventeen years old when Mary Ethel McFarlane was born in Eramosa Township, Wellington County on August 27, 1884.

In 1905 she married Charles Cleveland Russ at Eden Mills.

After farming the Rudd homestead for a short time they purchased a farm in Guelph Township raising three sons, Everard, Harold and Douglas, each of whom has one son and three daughters.

Mrs. Rudd now lives in the Avalon Care Centre in Orangeville and until a year or so ago, was an avid reader. Her general health is very good for one of her age and there is no record of any other member of her family reaching the 100 year milestone.

May we add our congratulations to those already received from all levels of government and from as far away as British Columbia. May you have many more happy birthdays Mrs. Rudd.

The latest results from the weekly Club 35 card party were: most lone hands - Shirley Bunker; high man - James Cater; high lady - Jean Burke who also won the door prize, sharing with Eleanor Ferris. Other winners for the evening were Cecil Burke, Bruce Cummings, Myra McCarthy and her daughter, Rosemary McCarthy. Congratulations all of you!

Had a call from Mrs. Bev Wood at the Library and she tells us that the library are interested in providing afternoon movies for seniors again this winter. Any seniors who are interested in afternoon movies, please call Bev at 286-2491 so that suitable times may be arranged.

Visiting with Bess and Fred Cox over the weekend were Rachael Mitten from Cambridge and Nancy Lang of Toronto.

Minden seemed very quiet this week - all the little darlings are back to school. Was that large rush of air a collective sigh of relief from all the happy mothers on Tuesday? Oh well kids, just work hard and before you know it, it'll be Christmas vacation!

The Library Committee regular meeting will be held in the Library, Monday, September 10 at 7:30 p.m.

Sincere sympathy to the families and friends of the late Al Barron, Walter Noice and Larry Wilford, all of whom passed away recently.

Of Concern

Inherent in the arms race
That chicken flight in futility,
Lies the dread, the fear to face
Up to today's reality.

Cause for concern lies not without
But strives within the social brew.
Today we question and we doubt,
Reject the old, but fear the new.

Yet times and pressures urge us on,
And in time there comes that day
Questions answered, doubts are gone,
The new takes on identity.

Gives purpose and direction to
A growing wave of set resolve,
Challenging reaction on
What ever that involve.

And in the ferment, the travail,
Attends emergence of the new,
Tests the virile of its drive,
And the will to see it through.

Yet conscious of priority,
And preface, Folks, to our concern,
Is our survival, life itself,
Lest what is left is but to mourn.

Reaction as its last resort
May yet erect that nuclear tomb,
And the new humanity
Come still-born from the womb.

Well readers by the time this letter reaches you the election will be over and so the experts say the Tories will win, the Liberals they must go. But even experts sometimes make mistakes. We just hope whoever wins will have what it takes.

Not too much activity over the weekend here at Hyland Crest. Mary Oliver who is very much alive, her family took her out to dinner, then for a nice drive.

Mrs. Stutt's daughter Ruth and two great grandsons, came to visit her Saturday night.

For some of our residents the 'flu has taken its toll. As for callers over the weekend, I didn't have a soul.

Our sympathy from all here to Ralph Daniel, in the loss of his daughter.

In the chapel service Sunday night, with the Thompsons still away. No one to read the lesson or the music to play. Rev. Burgess is always ready to solve problems great or small. He took his message from Hebrews Chapter 9, where Christ died to save us all.

Rev. John's mother came home from hospital, so his wife Mary didn't attend the service at all. She stayed with her mother in case she would fall.

Our deepest sympathy to Norma Barron on this 27th August day. For the loss of her dear husband who just passed away.

As I write this letter we have Carrie Jones back from hospital feeling some better.

Readers, if you have some old furniture you want to look like new, take it to Angus Coulter, he'll know what to do.

To Chantel McKnight who helped here during the summer holidays. You have won the hearts of all here, with your helping hand and willing ways. You have been so helpful through the school holidays. Please accept this gift from all of us here. We hope you have a successful year with health and happiness you will be blessed. This is the wish from all here at the Crest.

The movies Monday night were really grand, Steam Stone and Ellsmerland.

Tuesday morning Rev. John Smith of Haliburton Baptist Church, conducted a very interesting service in the chapel this lovely August day. We thank him for coming and Fred Ballard the music to play.

Edna Shorter's daughter came from Florida, all the way to visit with her mother in their town house for a few days.

The candidates came to call. The first to come was William Scott, he said I have just come to call whether you vote for me or not.

The next to come was Liberal Bruce Glass, he said I thought I would call on you, I'm travelling first class. His travelling companion was a young lady from out of town, her name is Miss Dianne Cowan.

I haven't had a call yet from the NDP. We wonder who is going to win, we will just have to wait and see.

Fred Ballard came Tuesday night, fine organ music he does play. We can count on Fred most every day.

Thursday afternoon the members of St. Stephens Ladies Guild, who live around Halls Lake, not only brought a lovely lunch, but a lovely birthday cake. We had a birthday party for those who had birthdays in August. The food was good we thought we should try to clean up every crust. They also brought a special guest, whom I will call Kathy K. She had a birthday this very same day. She sang so lovely for us and gave us all a thrill. Please all come back again some day. We truly hope you will.

Our faithfuls Ray and Marjorie Usher came Friday night as they came each day before. But this was their last day, they won't be coming anymore. Ray is a great piano player, with a cottage on Canning Lake shore. We're going to miss you, we surely will. May I say God bless you all when you move back to Richmond Hill.

CARD OF THANKS

We are deeply grateful to Mrs. Edith Luke, who was so concerned over our poor living conditions, due to the indifference of those responsible for our insurance settlement to replace the home and contents lost to fire, that she had a mobile home moved to the site. We are more comfortable than we have been in ten long months. We would also like to thank Mrs. Alice Todd, Mrs. Joyce Hewitt, Mr. Everett Harding and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ineson for gifts of clothing and a blanket.

Bernice, Bill and Tim Park

Thank you hardly seems adequate for the welcome to Minden, the never ending help building our house and all the best wishes we have received. To Barry and Doris, Jim and Shirley, Mike and Bev, Tom and Marg and all our new friends, too numerous to mention - we think you're great.

Bob and Joanne

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of James Albert Miles who left us suddenly September 4, 1979.

September comes with sad regrets,
The month, the day, we will never forget.
You slipped away without a goodbye,
Memories of you will never die.

Deeply missed by wife Birdena Miles, children and grandchildren, mother Irene Miles, grandmother Kathryn Daniel.
